

Where your website stands, and where it could go

An audit of relianthomemtg.com, and the reasoning behind each choice in the redesign concept.

PREPARED FOR
Kevin and Jennifer Barker
Reliant Home Mortgage LLC · Middletown, Ohio

PREPARED BY
Zane Ramsey
Greater Purpose Web

THE SHORT VERSION

Your reputation is strong. The website makes visitors work to see it.

✓ Already working

Real people in real photos, with full bios for all five loan officers

5.0 stars across 82 Google reviews

Licensing that is complete and easy to verify

20 loan programs, each with its own page

! Holding it back

Six different ways to start, and no clear first step

The family story and the broker advantage are hard to find

Several pages are empty or hold placeholder text

Generic copy, and one factual error on the FHA page

➔ What the redesign does

One next step everywhere: a two-minute pre-qualification

A menu built around what visitors came to do

Tools that answer the question behind each page

A look drawn from your logo, built for phones first

METHOD

How we looked at the site

17

Pages reviewed

Every page in the menu and footer, plus all five loan officer profiles.

2

screen sizes

Desktop and phone

A 1440px desktop window and a 390px phone, the width of a current iPhone.

3×

Google Lighthouse

Google's page-quality test, run three times per site. We report the middle result.

WCAG

Accessibility checks

Automated checks against the WCAG 2.2 AA standard with axe-core, page by page.

0

Forms submitted

We read every form and tool without sending anything to your office.

Every

Line of copy read

Headlines, buttons, bios, loan pages and the glossary, checked for clarity and accuracy.

Audited 29 September 2026 in Chromium. Speed figures are lab measurements from a test machine, so real visitors' numbers will vary.

STRENGTHS

What's already working, and stays

- ✓

A real team, shown

A team photo on the home page, and headshots and full bios for all five loan officers. Kevin since 1996, Jennifer since 1997, Christina since 1995.
- ✓

5.0 stars, 82 Google reviews

Clients name Kevin and Jennifer again and again for clear, quick, careful work.
- ✓

Licensing done right

Company NMLS #2292251, the Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana licenses, and every loan officer's NMLS number, linked to NMLS Consumer Access.
- ✓

Every loan covered

20 programs, from FHA and VA to DSCR and doctor loans, each with its own page.
- ✓

Reassuring promises

“No SSN required” and “No credit check” already appear on the site. The redesign keeps both.
- ✓

Holds up on a phone

No page scrolls sideways at phone width, body text is 17px, and Lighthouse scores accessibility 100.

The current staff page. These headshots and bios carry straight into the redesign.

PART ONE

What we found

Six findings, each with the evidence behind it.

1 Six ways to start, and no clear first step

3 Some pages promise more than they hold

5 On a phone, the number is out of sight

2 The family story is hard to find

4 Copy that could belong to any lender

6 Solid on accessibility, heavy underneath

FINDING 1 · FIRST IMPRESSION

Six ways to start, and no clear first step

- 1 Apply Now asks visitors to pick one of five loan officers by name before they know anyone.
- 2 Three buttons in three colors carry equal weight. None reads as the main one.
- 3 A separate eight-field form. Its labels sit inside the boxes and disappear as you type.

BY THE NUMBERS

The home page has 19 buttons with 10 different labels. They lead to six separate starting points, and each asks for different details.

“Since 1996, I have been doing purchase and refinance home loans all over the Tri State area.”

KEVIN'S BIO · TWO CLICKS DEEP, UNDER COMPANY › MEET OUR STAFF

FINDING 2 · YOUR STORY

The family story is hard to find

- 1 A section titled “The Reliant Home Mortgage LLC Team” shows no one from the team.
- 2 It calls Reliant “your premier mortgage lender.” Your license and your bios say broker, which is the stronger story: you shop many lenders for each client.
- 3 Four identical “Get Started” buttons fill the space where the people could be.

ALSO ON THE ABOUT PAGE

It opens with general text, “committed to providing clients with the highest quality financial services,” and never mentions a family business, Middletown, or decades of experience.

Some pages promise more than they hold

Blog
One post, dated January 1, 2023. It reads “Welcome to ! Please check back for future articles and information.”

Recommended Professionals
Seven categories, from contractors to insurance agents. Every one shows 0 entries.

Local Resources
Four categories. Three are empty, and one lists a single title company.

Today's Rates
No rates on the page. The copy offers “rate quotes from a nationwide network of trusted lenders,” which sounds like a lead marketplace.

WHY IT MATTERS
Visitors notice empty pages. On a site that asks people to trust you with their finances, each one quietly suggests nobody is looking after it.

Copy that could belong to any lender, and one fact to fix

“What are you waiting for? Getting started is easy!”

HOME PAGE BANNER, OVER A STOCK PHOTO

“Zero Cost · Zero Obligation · Zero Hassle”

SIDEBAR ON SEVERAL PAGES

“FREE advice ... regarding any Mortgage and/or Real Estate related topics”

ASK A PROFESSIONAL

Home Search

Home Values

Find A Realtor

Home Search, Home Values and Find A Realtor send visitors to real estate tools, which blurs what Reliant does. The same autumn-road photo heads every inner page.

ACCURACY · FHA LOANS PAGE

FHA loans were designed for low- and moderate-income individuals and families who want to buy a home but don't have enough money saved for a down payment or don't have perfect credit. To be eligible for an FHA loan, the borrower must have a credit score of at least 500 and put down a minimum of 3.5% of the home's purchase price. The borrower must also prove they have steady employment and income to afford the monthly mortgage payments.

“To be eligible for an FHA loan, the borrower must have a credit score of at least 500 and put down a minimum of 3.5% of the home's purchase price.”

The page says a 500 credit score qualifies with 3.5% down. Under HUD's rules, 3.5% down needs a score of 580 or higher. From 500 to 579, the minimum down payment is 10%.

Worth correcting now, whatever you decide about a redesign.

TODAY

FINDING 5 · ON A PHONE

It works on a phone, but the number is out of sight

- ✓ No page scrolls sideways, and body text is a comfortable 17px.
- ! The phone number is not on the first screen.
- ! Three stacked buttons of equal weight open the page.
- ! The home page runs about ten phone screens. The glossary runs about thirty.
- Redesign: a Call button and Get pre-qualified stay in reach at the bottom of every page.

REDESIGN

Solid on accessibility, heavier than it needs to be

Google Lighthouse, phone test, middle of three runs.

- ! 94 requests and about 1.1 MB to load the home page, including about 440 KB of scripts on every page.
- ! The main content appears after about 6.0 seconds on Lighthouse's simulated phone.
- ! 16 of 17 pages have no meta description, the summary Google often shows under your link.
- ! Staff listings, forms, directories and the newsletter load in embedded frames after the page. On the staff page the layout jumps as they arrive (shift score 0.45; Google rates over 0.25 as poor).
- ! Lighthouse flags third-party cookies, and the newsletter page throws a script error.

PART TWO

What we changed, and why

Seven decisions. Each one answers a finding.

1 One clear next step

3 Tools that answer real questions

5 A look drawn from your logo

7 Phones first, every visitor

2 A menu built on visitor goals

4 Your story, told by your people

6 A moment people remember

One clear next step: a two-minute pre-qualification

- Every page offers the same main button, so no one has to choose how to start.
- Everyone answers the same short questions, then reviews them before sending. Your loan officer gets complete, consistent answers.
- It keeps your promises: no Social Security number and no credit check.
- A personal rate quote and the choice of loan officer are options inside it.
- The second choice everywhere is a call to your Middletown office.

A menu built around what visitors came to do

TODAY

RATESPURCHASEREFINANCERESOURCES ▼ 4COMPANY ▼ 7

APPLY NOW ▼ 5 names

REDESIGN

Buy a homeRefinanceLearnLocal helpAbout us

Get pre-qualified

Purchase Assistant	Buy a home: loan finder and the five steps to closing	Loan Programs	All 20 loans, compare up to three side by side
Refinance Advisor	Refinance: break-even calculator and four good reasons	Local Resources, Professionals	Local help: resource finder, checklist and trusted pros
Today's Rates	Learn › How rates work, plus a quote in the pre-qualification	About, Staff, Reviews	About us: your team, reviews and a rating prompt
Calculator, Glossary	Learn › Calculators, Glossary and Homebuying 101	Blog, Monthly Newsletter	The Reliant Letter, one monthly email, on About us
Apply Now (five names)	Choose a loan officer inside the pre-qualification	Contact, Ask a Professional	Contact, linked from the footer and About us

Tools that answer the question behind each page

Have you or your spouse served in the military?

Yes

No

How much can you put down?

Under 5%

5% to 19%

20% or more

How would you describe your credit?

Strong (680+)

Building (under 680)

Not sure

Your best matches

Best match

Down Payment Assistance

Assistance can cover part of your down payment and closing costs.

DOWN PAYMENT

Helps cover your down payment

MORTGAGE INSURANCE

Depends on your first mortgage

How Down Payment Assistance works →

REPLACES THE PURCHASE ASSISTANT

Loan finder

Four questions, and the best-matching loans update as you answer. No contact details needed to see them.

Current loan balance

$220,000

Your current rate

7.250%

Example new rate

6.250%

Closing costs

$5,500

YOUR BREAK-EVEN POINT

Likely worth it

3.2 years

MONTHLY SAVINGS

$146/mo

CLOSING COSTS

$5,500

NET OVER YOUR STAY

$6,782

$6,782

REPLACES THE REFINANCE ADVISOR

Break-even calculator

Shows how long a refinance takes to pay back its closing costs, and whether that fits how long you'll stay.

Credit score

740+

680-739

620-679

Below 620

Down payment or equity

20% or more

10% to 19%

Under 10%

Property

WHERE YOU'D LIKELY LAND

Around the middle of the range

Lower rate

Higher rate

Credit score

Lower

Down payment or

Lower

REPLACES TODAY'S RATES

What moves your rate

Explains how credit, equity, property type and points move a rate, then offers a personal quote.

LESSON 1 OF 6 · 4 MIN

Homebuying 101

0 of 6 lessons complete

1

How much home can you afford?

4 min

Lenders start with your debt-to-income ratio: the share of your gross monthly income that goes to debt payments, including the new house payment. It's the biggest factor in how much you can borrow.

Many lenders like total debts to stay around 43% of income or less, though some programs allow more. The house payment includes principal, interest, taxes and insurance, often called PITI.

BUILDS ON THE CALCULATOR AND GLOSSARY

Homebuying 101

Six short lessons with a quick check each, hands-on calculators, and a searchable glossary with examples.

Reliant Home Mortgage · Website audit

15 / 23

DECISION 4 · YOUR STORY

Lead with the family, the office and the reviews

- The first line says who you are: a family-owned mortgage broker in Middletown.
- Names appear where your current site uses them: bios, licenses, reviews and choosing a loan officer. Elsewhere it's "our team."
- Reviews can be filtered to those that mention Kevin or Jennifer, or come from agents.

IN THE DEMO

Headshots and three bios are placeholders. Your current site already has the real ones, and they carry straight over.

A look that comes from your logo

Home loans, handled like family.

DM Serif Display for headings. Public Sans for everything you read.

Forest

#1c4f33

From the wordmark.
Every button and link.

Sand

#c3b69c

From the swoosh. Quiet accents only.

White

#ffffff

Crisp pages that feel open.

Cool gray

#eef2f0

Sections that separate topics.

WHY NO GOLD BUTTONS

Gold reads as money first. The green already in your logo reads as steady and local, and using it for every action makes the next step easy to spot. The whole site also works in dark mode.

Sending the form feels like arriving home

1 The walk up to the door

2 Three knocks, the hall light warms

3 The door swings open

4 “Welcome home,” then results

- Most sites answer a form with “Thank you for your submission.” This turns that moment into a small welcome people remember.
- On the home page, visitors drag the model home to walk around it.
- Still being smoothed. Your feedback was “getting better, but clunky and not smooth.” Next: load every view up front, blend views with motion, and move the walk to one graphics canvas.
- Visitors who turn off motion on their device skip it entirely.

DECISION 7 · EVERYONE, EVERY SCREEN

Built for phones first, and for every visitor

- ✓ 0 automated accessibility issues across 11 pages (WCAG 2.2 AA, axe-core).
- ✓ No sideways scrolling at phone width.
- ✓ Call and Get pre-qualified always within thumb reach.
- ✓ Light and dark mode, full keyboard use, and reduced motion respected.
- ✓ 19 requests to load the home page, down from 94.

How the two compare, measured the same way

* The demo is deliberately hidden from search engines while it is a concept. That is the only SEO check it misses, and it goes away at launch.

On desktop the redesign currently scores lower on performance (67 vs 85) because of the 3D model home. That is part of the smoothing work. Redesign phone runs ranged 44 to 76; the middle run is shown.

What the demo still needs before launch

CONTENT

- ☐ Your team photo, headshots and bios from the current site
- ☐ The full glossary from the current site, next to the new examples
- ☐ Real letters for The Reliant Letter (starter topics today)
- ☐ Terms, Privacy and CCPA pages carried over unchanged
- ☐ Your review of every line for accuracy and compliance

BUILD

- ☐ A real web address for every page, each with its own title and description
- ☐ Redirects from every old address, so search rankings and saved links carry over
- ☐ Forms connected to your inbox or lead system (Apply links already go to Blink)
- ☐ The 3D smoothing work
- ☐ Search indexing turned on at launch

WORTH DOING NOW

Fixes for the current site, with or without a redesign

1 Correct the FHA line
3.5% down needs a 580 score; 500 to 579 needs 10% down.

3 Hide empty directory categories
Or fill them with the pros you already refer.

5 Put the phone number on the first phone screen
A tap-to-call link in the header.

7 Match names and licenses everywhere
One bio spells Blaine's name "Ramsey." Two bios mention Florida; the footer lists Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

2 Retire the placeholder blog post
"Welcome to !" is the only post, from January 2023.

4 Show "5.0 from 82 Google reviews" on the home page
The home slider shows reviews from 2023 and early 2024; newer ones exist.

6 Add meta descriptions to the main pages
16 of 17 pages have none.

8 Fix the newsletter page
It throws a script error, and its articles show in a different typeface.

NEXT STEPS

Let's look at it together

1

Walk through the demo

On your phone and your computer.
Try the pre-qualification.

2

Tell us what to change

What to keep, what to adjust, what to drop.

3

Confirm the details

Photos, bios, and where new leads should go.

4

We build and launch

Move your content and redirects,
and go live when you approve.

PREPARED BY

Zane Ramsey • Greater Purpose Web

See the redesign concept

reliant-home-mortgage.greaterpurposeweb.com